Sharing Is Caring

An extension of "Compassion without borders"

Read "Compassion without borders," (page 8, What's Up July 2017). It tells a beautiful story of how people help one another when in need. We need to share what we have with those who do not. This sharing is a form of caring. There are many in this world who need your help. Let's hope that you will reach out and help bring a smile to their faces one day. For now, imagine that you are going to raise funds for a group of people.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Divide the class into five teams and appoint a leader for each team.
2. The table below lists a group of people in need of help and how you can help them.

The group of people in need of help.	About 63 million refugees worldwide, many of them children. Many live under very harsh conditions.
Their needs.	Food, shelter, and clothing to protect them from severe climatic conditions, clean drinking water, etc. Even something like a rechargeable torchlight goes a long way to provide security.
Facts about refugees and how to help.	UNHCR The UN Refugee Agency is in charge of refugees worldwide. http://www.unhcr.org/

3. In your groups, discuss the refugee problem, and their needs. Develop a proposal for raising funds to help them. Use the guide below for your planning.

List some fund-raising activities that your class can do.
Name the ways the events can be publicised.
Who will participate in your fund raising events? Who is likely to donate?
Estimate the amount of money your class can raise.
Suggest date, time and location to hold the fund raisers.

4. At the back of this sheet, write out a detailed proposal for your fund raiser.
5. Take turns to present each group's plan to the whole class. Then, as a class, vote for the two most feasible plans.
