

A-maze X-change

An extension of "It is hard to recover from wars, so don't start them"

There is so much pain and suffering in the world today because of wars. "It is hard to recover from wars, so don't start them" (page 11, What's Up March 2018) offers excellent advice for peace. Unfortunately, peace is not easy to attain.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. There are six special paths in the maze of letters below. Their exits are indicated by an arrow . Strategies to move from "strife to peace" are hidden within the paths.
2. Work in pairs to find the above paths. Ignore the letter 'x' or exchange it for a space. Use a pencil or highlighter to mark these paths.
3. Write these messages on the reverse of this worksheet. Discuss the value and usefulness of any two of these suggestions in resolving conflicts between students.

The maze contains the following words and phrases:

- strife to peace
- peace
- war
- conflict
- resolution
- dialogue
- negotiation
- agreement
- understanding
- cooperation
- respect
- empathy
- compassion
- tolerance
- openness
- honesty
- integrity
- responsibility
- accountability
- transparency
- communication
- listening
- active listening
- emotional intelligence
- self-awareness
- self-regulation
- social skills
- relationship skills
- problem-solving
- critical thinking
- decision-making
- leadership
- teamwork
- collaboration
- community service
- volunteering
- philanthropy
- social justice
- human rights
- environmental stewardship
- global citizenship
- digital citizenship
- financial literacy
- health and wellness
- career readiness
- entrepreneurship
- innovation
- creativity
- artistic expression
- physical education
- music
- dance
- theater
- film
- media literacy
- technology
- informatics
- computer science
- robotics
- engineering
- mathematics
- science
- history
- social studies
- language arts
- foreign languages
- literacy
- numeracy
- financial literacy
- digital literacy
- media literacy
- information literacy
- critical literacy
- creative literacy
- emotional literacy
- social literacy
- global literacy
- digital literacy
- information literacy
- critical literacy
- creative literacy
- emotional literacy
- social literacy
- global literacy