Active and Passive Voices

An extension of "Hospital in A War Zone"

In “Hospital in a War Zone” (page 8, What’s Up June 2018), the author recounts her experience helping to build a hospital in war-torn Syria. She uses a mix of active and passive voices to add variety to her writing. For the following sentences, identify whether each is active or passive, and rewrite them in the opposing voice. The first one has been done as an example.

No.	Original Sentence	Active/Passive?	Rewritten Sentence
1	Five hospitals in Aleppo have been bombed.	Passive	Someone bombed five hospitals in Aleppo.
2	A children's hospital was run by my Syrian colleagues at the Independent Doctors Association.
3	Through this work, I made a discovery.
4	Syrian organisations carry out 75 percent of the humanitarian work in Syria.
5	We built the first-ever crowdfunded hospital.
6	The location was carefully chosen by the local experts.
7	They have treated over 15,000 children.
