Green Campaign: Visualising Change

An extension of "Planting trees to fight climate change"

1. Read "Planting trees to fight climate change" (page 10, What's Up September 2018).

2. In small groups, discuss your reactions to the article.
    • What new information have you learned?
    • How does it make you feel?
    • What are some ways you can spread the message?

    Unlike you and your classmates, there are many people out there who do not know about these problems, or do not make time to read the news.

3. In your group, create an infographic or annotated picture that is attention-grabbing and easy to understand. Try to represent key information from the article to show your viewer how serious the situation is.

4. Use the space below to sketch a draft of your poster. When you are ready, begin work on your actual poster on a fresh piece of A3 poster paper.
