A Message to the World

An activity of "Ancient Egyptian mummies are moving home"

Read "Ancient Egyptian mummies are moving home" (Story 13A, What's Up April 2020).

Imagine you are an enthusiastic Egyptian historian, just like Bassam el-Shamaa. You strongly believe that all stolen Egyptian artifacts should be returned home.

1. Prepare a speech meant for a video broadcast to the world. You want to spread this important message, so that collectors and museums around the world will examine their collection and return what rightfully belongs to Egypt.
2. Jot down your main points here:

A large, empty rounded rectangular box with a thick blue border. The corners are smoothly rounded, and the interior is completely blank, intended for students to write their main points for the speech.

3. Practise your speech with passion and persuasion.
4. When you are ready, deliver your speech to family members or an imaginary audience! If you are able to, you can also record yourself giving the speech and share it with friends.
