

Name:
Class:	Date:

A Bug's Eye View

An activity of "Getting a bug's view of the world"

In "Getting a bug's view of the world" (page 14-15, What's Up August 2020), we learn about tiny cameras that are so small beetles can carry them. Imagine if you were shrunk to the size of a beetle — what would you see, hear, and feel? Write a story about spending a day as an insect-sized human.

A good story has a strong narrative arc. This refers to the events in the story. Often, you have a calm beginning, a middle section with tension and conflict building to a peak, and an ending where everything is resolved. To help you plan your narrative arc, fill in the story planner below.

Beginnir	ng	Middle		Ending
	2) How did you shrink?	3a) One problem you faced	4) How did you try to solve the problems?	6) How did you feel and what did you learn?
· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·		3b) Another problem y faced	you 5) How did you finally become normal-sized again?
This line repres tension in your		gle		黄木