

Name: _____

Class: _____ Date: _____

Synthesis and Transformation

An activity of "Bringing entertainment to the streets"

Relative pronouns (who, whose, whom, which, that, where, when) are used to join two or more connected ideas in a sentence. The sentences below are adapted from "Bringing entertainment to the streets" (Page 22, What's Up March 2022). Rewrite them into one sentence each using the relative pronouns given.

1. A busker is a street performer. Buskers perform in public for donations.

_____ who
_____.

2. Roy has been performing for over 30 years. He is a key figure in the busking scene.

_____, who _____,
_____.

3. His songs carry positive messages. He wrote the songs to motivate himself.

_____, which _____,
_____.

4. Events like the Sentosa Buskers Festival continue to celebrate and promote the busking culture in Singapore. Today, there are about 300 registered buskers here.

_____, where _____,
_____.

5. The pandemic hit hard the busking community. Due to government restrictions, buskers had to move their performances online.

_____ when
_____.

6. Some people look down on buskers because they think busking is a form of begging.

_____ whom
_____.