If We Could Design Our School Uniforms

An activity of "Heels are out, flats are taking off".

1. Read the article "Heels are out, flats are taking off" (page 23, What's Up September 2024). In small groups, respond to these questions. Jot down your points.

a) Why do you wear school uniforms?

b) What makes your uniform look smart?

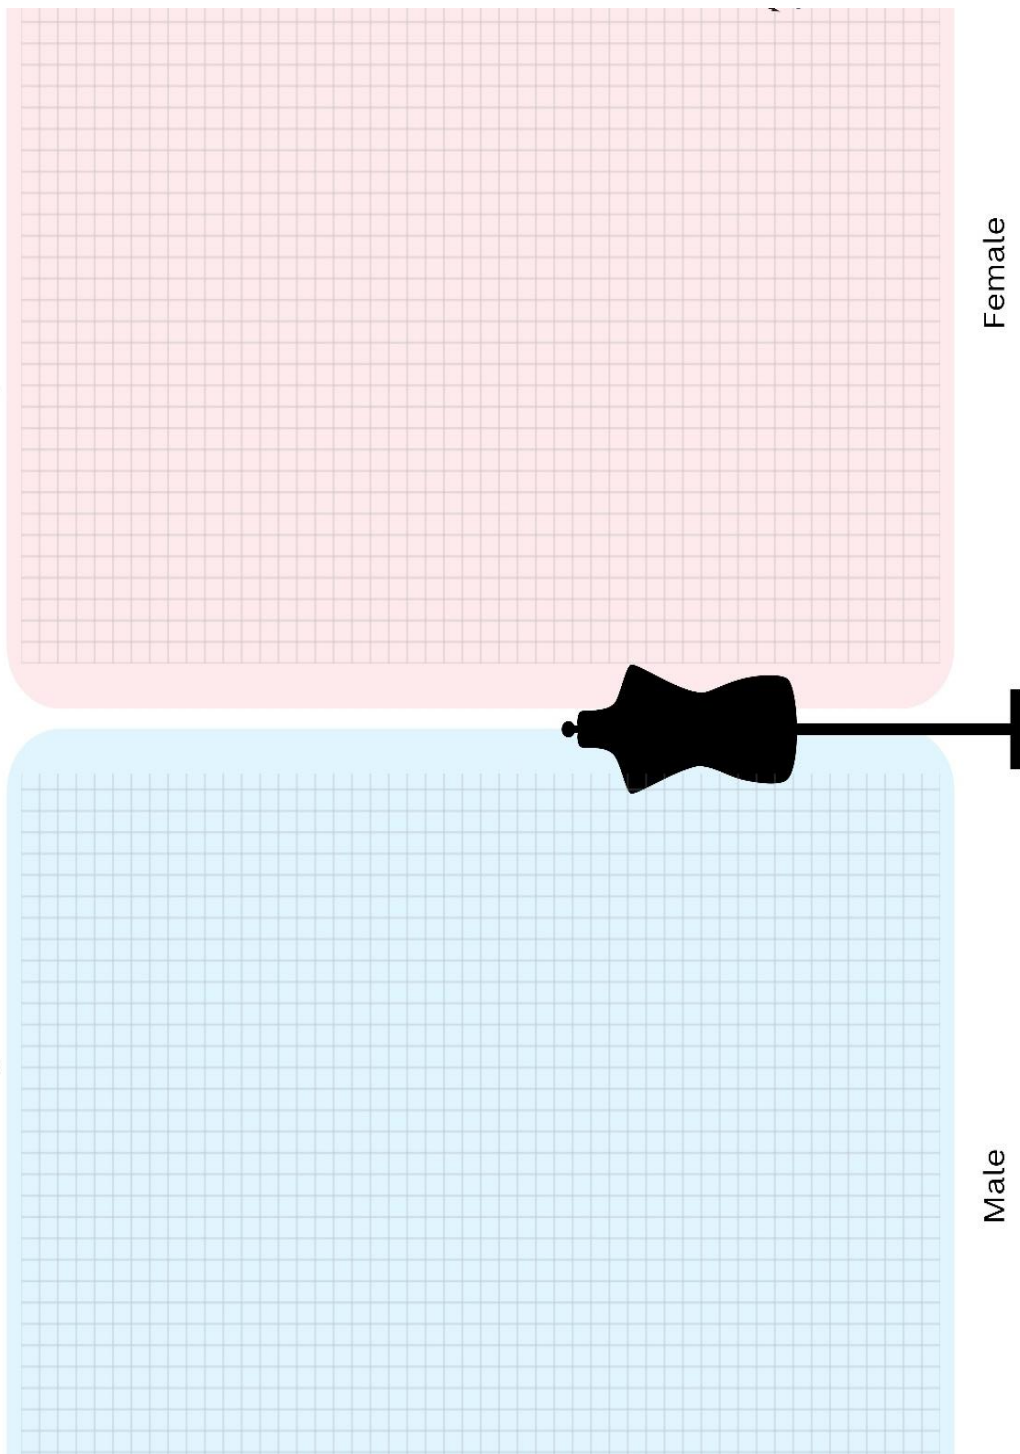

c) What makes your uniform comfortable?

2a) Jot down ideas for your ideal school uniform, from head to toe. Here are some areas to consider:

- Attire for both male and female students
- What would make your uniform comfortable? (e.g. fabric materials, the cut and fit, whether it is appropriate for our weather)
- How can your design look smart and neat while also being practical for daily use?
- What are elements from your current uniform that you want to keep, and what would you change?

2b) Sketch your ideas below. Explain how your design balances comfort, practicality, and smartness.

3a) Create a poster to present your new uniform designs. The poster should include:

- A catchy slogan
- Key points to explain the choices behind your uniform designs
- Visually appealing elements that are relevant to your ideas

3b) Have a gallery walk of all your posters.
